

Using SMART Ink with PowerPoint

If you have recently upgraded to SMART Notebook 11 and have since been unable to annotate on a PowerPoint slide in “presentation” mode, performing the following steps may solve the issue:

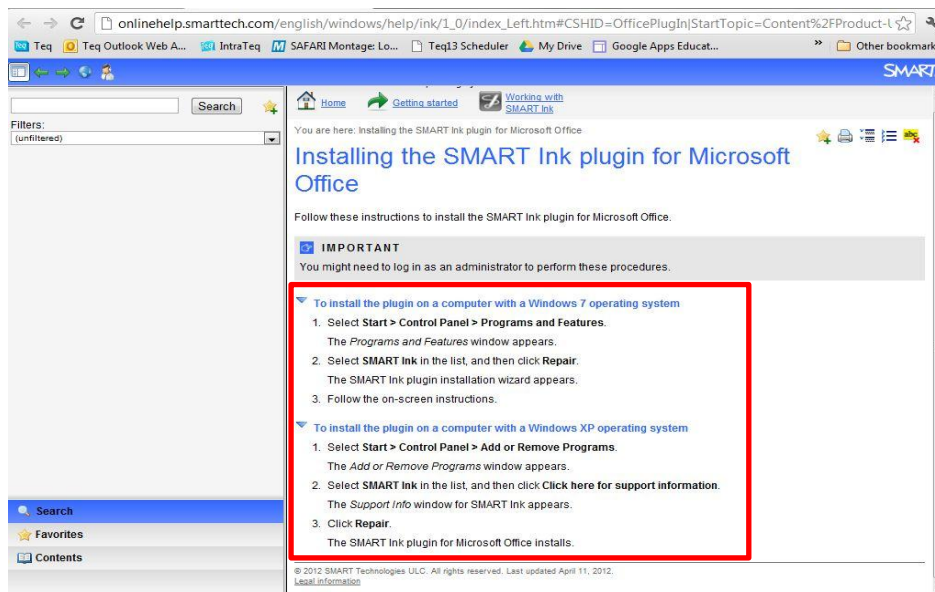

1. In PowerPoint, click on the SMART Ink toolbar in the upper-right of the screen (if you are NOT connected to a SMART Board, you may not see this).

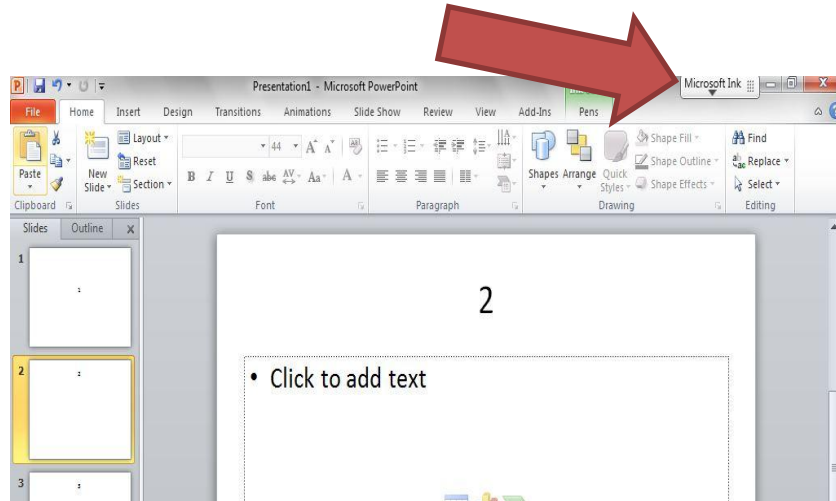

2. If you see the following message, you will need to “repair” the SMART Ink plug-in.

3. Perform the steps indicated below, according to the the Windows operating system you are using:

4. Now, you may need to re-launch SMART Ink by clicking Start > All Programs > SMART Technologies > SMART Ink
5. You'll also need to restart PowerPoint. After opening, you should see the following tab (if connected to a SMART Board):

Once you have completed all steps above, you will see a new "SMART Ink" toolbar when you play your slide show and you should be able to annotate on slides using a SMART Pen Tool.
