

Families Making the Connection

Go Further with Food

National Nutrition Month® is around the corner in March. The 2018 NNM theme is “Go Further with Food”. Whether starting the day with a healthy breakfast or fueling for fitness, our food choices can make a difference. Planning meals and snacks carefully can also reduce food waste. Tips for your family any time of the year:

1. Include a variety of foods from all food groups.
2. Take inventory of the food you have on hand before buying more from the market.
3. Buy only the amount that can be eaten or frozen in a few days. Plan to use leftovers later in the week.
4. Eat the appropriate portion sizes for you.
5. Use good food safety practices.
6. Be active every day with activities you enjoy.
7. Consider consulting a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (RDN) for healthy eating guidance.

Each March the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics celebrates National Nutrition Month. The annual event reinforces the importance of healthy eating and physical activity habits. Start planning now to celebrate with your family, at your child’s school, and in the community:

- Work with an RDN, chef or farmer to host a community nutrition event.
- Promote NNM at school with posters, stickers, a recipe contest and/or educational activities.
- Volunteer at a community garden or food bank. Host a food drive.
