

DISRUPTION OF INSTRUCTION

The Board of Education recognizes that the purpose of students attending school is to acquire the knowledge and skills necessary to become graduates prepared for life.

The district's mission of student success is supported by daily instruction that is free of unnecessary disruption.

School administrators shall implement rules, regulations and practices that specifically minimize the disruption of instruction, including, but not limited to:

1. Eliminating or reducing disturbances such as public address announcements, classroom deliveries, students leaving class, and other occurrences that are disruptive to instruction.
2. Prohibiting the delivery of balloons, flowers or other celebratory items during the instructional day.
3. Encouraging staff, students and parents to value and protect instructional time.
